Joint statement from Denver Public Schools, Denver Classroom Teachers Association, Padres & Jóvenes Unidos, Colorado Education Association

A response from Denver education community to President Trump's executive orders on immigration.

We stand together—as a school district, educators, students and families—to oppose the actions President Trump has taken through his executive orders today. Immigrant and refugee students, families, educators, and staff are precious members of our Denver school communities and we greatly value them for the contributions they make to our schools and communities.

We will do everything in our individual and collective power to protect them from deportation, criminalization, intimidation and harassment.

Sincerely,

Ricardo Martinez, Co-Executive Director, Padres & Jóvenes Unidos
Henry Roman, President, Denver Classroom Teachers Association
Tom Boasberg, Superintendent, Denver Public Schools
Kerrie Dallman, President, Colorado Education Association and
Jefferson County High School Teacher

Declaración Conjunta de Denver Public Schools, Denver Classroom Teachers Association, Padres & Jóvenes Unidos, Colorado Education Association

La respuesta de la comunidad educativa de Denver a las órdenes ejecutivas firmadas por el Presidente Trump en materia de inmigración.

Hoy más que nunca estamos unidos, los que integramos el distrito escolar, educadores, estudiantes y familias. Manifestamos nuestro rechazo total a las acciones que el Presidente Trump ha tomado el día de hoy con sus órdenes ejecutivas. Los estudiantes inmigrantes y refugiados, las familias, los educadores y el personal educativo son miembros valiosos de nuestras comunidades escolares en Denver, valoramos y reconocemos su enorme aportación que hacen a nuestras escuelas y comunidades.

Haremos todo lo que esté en nuestro poder tanto de forma individual como colectiva para protegerlos de la deportación, la criminalización, la intimidación y el acoso.

Sinceramente,

Ricardo Martinez, Co-Executive Director, Padres & Jóvenes Unidos
Henry Roman, President, Denver Classroom Teachers Association
Tom Boasberg, Superintendent, Denver Public Schools
Kerrie Dallman, President, Colorado Education Association and
Jefferson County High School Teacher
